

Judge Ward greets Linda Thacker

Citizenship conferred on 12 in TF ceremony

By MIKE ROBERTSON
Times-News Writer

TWIN FALLS — Twelve Magic Valley persons became U.S. citizens Thursday at the Twin Falls county courthouse in special ceremonies. Nine adults and three minors were sworn into citizenship by naturalization by Fifth District Judge Theron Ward. Judge Ward told the new citizens that it was not only a happy, but also an important occasion. He said, for many, it would be the most important day of their lives.

Naturalized were Josef Gerard Koenig, Ketchum, native of Austria; Felix Gonzalez, Ketchum, and Frank Echavarren, Kimberly, both natives of Spain; Pauline McCoy, Twin Falls, and Marjorie Eileen Michaels, Gooding, both natives of Canada; Jose Antonio Bengoechea, Twin Falls, native of Spain; Doris Mary Ross and Sara Juan Hite, both Twin Falls, and both natives of Canada; and Conchita

Gonzalez, Sun Valley, native of Spain. Minors becoming citizens were Michael Dale Bitterli, Wendell, native of Germany, son of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Bitterli; Wendell Kwan Hin Chin, Twin Falls, native of China, petitioned by Toy Yung Chin; and Linda Albina Thacker, Gooding, native of Germany, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Freddie Donaldson Thacker, Gooding. The new citizens were addressed by Idaho State Sen. Richard High, R-Twin Falls. He said many times natural born citizens of the United States don't appreciate what they have by living in the United States.

Sen. High said the United States is a great nation because of its principles of freedom, one of which lets foreign born persons become citizens. Members of the American Legion and Daughters of American Revolution presented awards to the new citizens.

B52s hit Hanoi port

SAIGON (UPI) — B52s returned to North Vietnam today and bombed the port of Than Hoa, 90 miles south of Hanoi, the U.S. command announced. It was the first B52 strike in the north since last Sunday's raids on the Hanoi-Haiphong area.

Bien Hoa is one of North Vietnam's major ports and has been hit in the past by U.S. fighter-bombers. It is a principal supply port for North Vietnamese supplies arriving by ship for the offensive below the Demilitarized Zone (DMZ), 225 miles to the south.

While American air power hit North Vietnam the Communists attacked within 15 miles of Saigon tonight, shelling the big American base at Than Hoa, 15 miles north of the capital, with unknown results. Communists also brought heavy pressure on two provincial towns only 40 miles from Saigon.

The U.S. command said other U.S. Air Force and U.S. Navy planes struck military targets in North Vietnam that are helping to support the Communist invasion across the DMZ and into South Vietnam, a spokesman said.

A statement read to newsmen at 11:30 p.m. Saigon time (10:30 a.m. EST) said the military targets included logistic, transportation and air defense facilities in areas where the enemy has been assembling and moving supplies and troops to support the invasion forces across the DMZ.

Spokesmen declined to say how many planes were involved or to give any other particulars of the targets.

There was no immediate mention of North Vietnamese opposition to the B52s. The big bombers, vulnerable to surface-to-air missiles, are escorted by sophisticated fighter-bombers which can lock in on North Vietnamese radar bases and disrupt the SAM attacks.

The new raids against the North followed statements by President Nixon and Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird that bombing of the north would continue as necessary to ease the threat to the remaining Americans in South Vietnam. Laird did not rule out further strikes on Hanoi and Haiphong.

The bombings have touched off widespread antiwar protests in the United States and some European capitals.

Andrus calls war 'tragedy'

BOISE (UPI) — Gov. Cecil D. Andrus, referring to various activities planned in Idaho to protest the bombing escalation in Vietnam, said today it would mean a "day of reckoning."

"It will be a day when the American people will let their true feelings be known about the escalation of the bombing in particular and the Vietnam war in general," he said.

Describing the war as an "American tragedy," the governor said it had "taxed the sacrificial limits of our people. It has divided our nation and accumulated a wasteful loss of life and limb for a cause without a cause."

"We must realize that the United States can no longer be the policeman and banker of the world and we must demonstrate our conviction in an emphatic but peaceful manner."

I continue to support congressional action to establish a date for the release of all prisoners of war and for total withdrawal from Vietnam."

Living costs go up

WASHINGTON (UPI) — With the rise in food prices ebbing sharply, the cost of living rose only 0.2 per cent in March compared to 0.5 per cent in February, the government reported today.

The Bureau of Labor Statistics said the price of food in supermarkets, after shooting up 1.6 per cent in February due mainly to higher tabs for meat, increased only 0.1 per cent in March. That was in line with a decline in the wholesale prices of food last month also.

The leveling off of food prices that administration officials had been widely predicting since the last index came out was particularly evident in costs for meat, poultry and fish.

After registering a precipitous 4.6 per cent increase in February over January, they rose only 0.4 per cent in March.

There was even a decline recorded last month in one key meat category, pork.

The 0.2 per cent increase in the overall Consumer Price Index, as reported by the Labor Department's statistical bureau, was computed without any seasonal adjustments being figured in. The bureau said no increase at all was recorded over February when seasonal factors were taken into consideration and the figures were then adjusted.

The overall food price increase was 0.2 per cent on both an adjusted and nonadjusted basis.

Explorers probe lunar mountains

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI) — Their mission saved by engineers who refused to bow to failure, Apollo 16's two moonwalkers stepped out on a rocky mountain valley today and began man's first exploration of the highest region on the front side of the moon.

John W. Young and Charles M. Duke climbed out of the lunar module cabin, told they probably would be able to spend a full three days on the moon despite Thursday's harrowing troubles that delayed their moon landing for six hours.

However, project officials decided to have Young, Duke and command module pilot Thomas K. Mattingly leave lunar orbit 18 hours early.

The first task of Young and Duke on the dusty surface was to open Orion's storage compartments and set up the four-wheeled, battery-powered moon car they will use to roam a six-mile stretch of terrain.

The seven-hour period of surface activity today was concentrated on setting up a nuclear-powered geophysical observatory and gathering samples of the Cayley Plains, a rolling bed of rock believed formed by volcanic upheaval.

more than 3.5 billion years ago. It was man's first investigation of the fogged highlands which make up three-fourths of the lunar surface.

The astronauts got the word shortly after being awakened that they probably would be able to carry out the full surface plan.

"My golly, what a view," exclaimed Young after climbing from the hatch.

"Boy, isn't that nice," Young said just before stepping on the lunar surface.

Cayley Plain, Apollo 16 is going to change your image," Young said as he stepped to the surface at 11:59 a.m. EST.

Boy is this over neat," he added.

Young took his first good look at the landing site and said Orion passed over a "big hole" before landing on Cayley plain Thursday night — six hours later than planned because of trouble aboard the command ship, Casper.

Duke followed Young to the moon, stepping down about noon. "Hot dog, isn't this great," Duke exclaimed.

He said one of the lander's four legs "had just missed hitting a rock during the touchdown."

"Wow! Isn't this ever superb," said Duke, as he began helping Young with the first chores of setting up equipment at the Descartes base.

Good lord, look at that hole we almost landed in," Duke said, then he told capsule communicator Anthony England, "It's super" to be on the moon.

Apollo 16's lander apparently was tilted because the equipment storage platform unfolded from the lander side and touched the ground. The astronauts had some difficulty getting the equipment platform set up for their day's work because of the tilt.

Young and Duke worked to free some equipment from the platform and at one point Young cautioned his partner "don't fall down, now."

CSI debates war protest

By RUTH MILLER
Times-News writer

TWIN FALLS — About 60 College of Southern Idaho students met this morning with College President Dr. James Taylor to debate Vietnam bombing demonstrations.

At 11:30 a.m. college officials said only discussion had taken place. There was no picketing and no disorder at the college.

At issue was whether the students had a right to demonstrate and picket and whether Dr. Taylor or other college officials have the authority to stop such demonstrations.

Demonstration activities began after the CSI Student Senate adopted a resolution supporting the national campus protests against the Vietnam War Thursday afternoon. The action made no provisions for active demonstration, but many students gleaned the impression from the action that demonstrations were in order.

This morning, Dr. Taylor went to the Clark's Nest in the Student Union Building to meet with student leaders and found 50 to 60 students present.

Larry Stamps, president of the Student Senate, notified Dr. Taylor Thursday afternoon of the student action. Dr. Taylor said this was not sufficient time for the college to make plans for a demonstration which would not interfere with class schedules.

Dr. Taylor told the students this morning it costs $11,000 per day to run CSI and he does not believe a sudden cut off of classes for demonstration purposes is fair to the faculty, students who want to attend class or to the taxpayers of the college district.

He said if the students wish to take the time to properly plan a demonstration the college administration will cooperate, so long as it is peaceful and does not include picketing of Shields Academic Building which would hamper students going to their classes. He told the students they have not given the matter enough time in planning.

He said he has checked city ordinances and if the officials ask students to cease picketing and they fail to do so, he has no alternative but to resort to legal steps.

Mark Story, one of the student leaders, asked what grounds the college president has for telling the students they cannot picket or demonstrate without planning and preparing an approved demonstration.

Dr. Taylor responded any student who is on the campus for purposes other than to attend class is unauthorized and subject to college regulations. City police stood by early this morning with an additional force of night and morning shifts and were available to assist in any non-peaceful demonstrations but their services were not required.

TF teachers score budget

TWIN FALLS — Twin Falls teacher union officials were sharply critical today of the lack of "meaningful negotiations" by the Twin Falls School District.

Officers of the small Twin Falls local of the American Federation of Teachers charged that the district had begun calling for teacher contracts even before negotiations had begun on substantive issues.

The statement called for remedial action to improve teacher salaries. It asked:

1. Approval by the school trustees and district voters of a 3-mill emergency levy to provide funds to boost teacher salaries. This would bring in about $90,000 to the district.
  2. Teachers to withhold their contracts until meaningful negotiations have begun.
  3. School voters to scrutinize candidates for school trustee posts in the May 5 trustee election and to support those seeking "quality education."
  4. Voters to talk to legislators to lobby for additional state appropriations.
- The AFT statement issued today was signed by Edward Chupa, president; Bill Jacobsen, vice president, and Charles Meyer, secretary-treasurer.
- The AFT reportedly represents 23 teachers in the school district, a far smaller number than represented by the Twin Falls Education Association which is recognized as the teachers' sole negotiating agent by the school trustees.

The AFT statement said that Idaho is "now the Mississippi of the northwest" because teacher salaries are lower in Idaho than in all adjoining states.

The AFT statement was opposed to the "affront" to teachers by calling for teacher contracts before the teacher and district negotiators had agreed on the subjects to be negotiated.

"This affront is the board's way of saying that negotiation with teachers is meaningless regardless of the state law, and that the district will offer teachers just what it pleases. If the teachers aren't satisfied, they can leave the system," the teachers said.

The fallacy in this type of thinking is that the majority of teachers are dissatisfied, but are unable to leave the system willy-nilly.

"In the meantime, you the public, are sending your children to school under the impression that you are getting the highest quality education that your tax dollars can buy."

Recent blows to teachers cited by the AFT include diversion of teacher salary funds to pay for supplies and workbooks, formerly paid for by students, following an Idaho Supreme Court decision.

This year, "because of a $90,000 error in the budget the teachers are again asked to bear the brunt of lack of funds."

Every other service has risen in cost for the district — coal, books, supplies and transportation. These rises in operating expenses are met without major efforts to cut back or eliminate the expenditures entirely.

Instead, the AFT said, "The teachers are the ones that are required to go without a corresponding increase in wages to meet the cost of living increases."

Regardless of the charges and countercharges regarding the $90,000 error in the budget, it is a sad day for education when teachers must bear the mistakes of poor management or judgment."

The AFT statement criticized the Idaho School Trustee Association for lobbying strongly against a $400 per year across the board teacher salary increase brought before the legislature.

The AFT charged that the trustees wanted to have control over "all the money."

Program violates Civil Rights Act

WASHINGTON (UPI)—A federally financed experimental school program for blacks and Chicanos in Berkeley, Calif., is in probable violation of the 1964 Civil Rights Act because whites are excluded, the government said today.

In a letter to the superintendent of the Berkeley Unified School District, J. Stanley Pottinger, head of the U.S. Office of Civil Rights, said, "We must request the district move promptly either to modify the operation of these two programs for their next semester so that they conform to federal law, or cease their operation by the end of the current semester."

The $3.6 million Berkeley program is financed by the U.S. Office of Education, but Pottinger's Civil Rights Office, though a sister agency of the operation, said the Berkeley program is racially restrictive and housed in "demonstrably inferior" facilities.

"On the one hand, the Casa de la Raza and Black House experiments can be viewed as well-intentioned, good faith attempts on the part of a local education agency which has undergone several years of voluntary desegregation," Pottinger wrote. "On the other hand, there is the language of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which forbids the exclusion of any individual from participation in any federally assisted program on the grounds of race, color or national origin."

Robert Blinzwanger, director of the experimental schools program in the Office of Education, declined comment on the letter which was released by the Civil Rights Office. He said he had not seen a copy of it.

THIS I BELIEVE . . .

A man who has lived to an honorable age — Who has loved a wife, toiled to raise a family, Taught his Children kindness and respect, Helped his friends in sickness and adversity, Feared and worshiped his God —

Such a man deserves a memorial, a tangible token, even though its represents but a few pennies set aside for each day that he lived.

And who will be so cold of heart (be he stranger, friend or heir) that he will say that this is wrong?

And what man will truthfully say that for himself this is wrong?

This is an honest thought; let each man have in side himself the knowledge that in a selected place of his own choosing there will be imperishable bronze eloquently inscribed with the fact that he not only died, but that he lived; that his grave not only be marked, but meaningfully memorialized.

The dignity of man requires no less. Anonymous

SERVING MAGIC VALLEY SINCE 1936

COMPANION SPACE FOR TWO FOR AS LITTLE AS $180.00

KIMBERLY ROAD 733-5743

Stakes high in decision

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—The stakes were high—$445 million and the success of the next-to-last U.S. manned landing on the moon.

Space agency officials figured there were two options. Either Apollo 16 landed or it headed for home.

Gone would have been the exciting hours of surface exploration, the millions of dollars worth of surface experiments, the less exciting but highly important lunar orbital sciences experiments.

It hinged on whether experts thought a problem in a backup system in the command ship's rocket system was real or an illusion, whether it was critical and irreparable, or serious but solvable.

The space agency says you never land on the moon if you have only one way of getting out of moon orbit. A failure in backup system of the command ship Casper would have left only the prime system and the descent engine on the moon lander to bring the astronauts home.

A space agency spokesman said the craft would not even have been able to stay in moon orbit for whatever experiments could be conducted from orbit.

"It would not have been worth that risk," the spokesman said.

He explained that for reasons of safety and to perform planned orbital experiments from Casper, the orbit would have had to been made circular.

One of the engines—in this case the lunar module engine—would have to be used. That would have left just one engine to get home.

"If you have a problem, you want to get out of there and get on home," the spokesman said.

The problem faced Thursday by Thomas K. Mattingly behind the moon is a little difficult to explain. Simply put a control mechanism failed and would have caused the 20,500-pound thrust service propulsion rocket to oscillate back and forth when firing.

Visualize a fish swimming. As its tail wiggles, so does its body. In this case, the fish's tail would represent the rocket nozzle, half again as tall as a man and five feet across. The fish's body would represent the rocket body, 48 1-2 feet long.

The question was whether the rocket could take that kind of shaking.

By evaluating the structure of the command module, and the service module, and the engine, we were able to determine we had a more than adequate margin," said Apollo Spacecraft Manager James McDuffie.

Well briefed wives try not to worry

"The kids don't mind telling you they get scared."

Even when it appeared the Apollo 16 mission was in trouble due to a balky guidance control system, Doty Duke said she was confident her husband could safely steer Orion to the moon.

"I was all for going for the landing," said the petite, blonde Georgia woman, standing barefoot in her front yard after the lunar lander touched down Thursday night. "They weren't in any danger. I was sure of that."

And Mrs. Thomas K. Mattingly, eight-months pregnant, said she has been "well-briefed by my husband" and thus didn't worry while scientists fretted over whether to bring the astronauts home and skip the moon landing.

"I knew there was a backup for everything, so I had no anxious moments," said Liz Mattingly, a former Hollywood, Calif. girl.

But in Jacksonville, Fla., where Apollo 16 commander John W. Young's two teen-age children live with his first wife, Barbara, their daughter Sandy Young, 14, said she was plenty worried.

"I thought it was going to crash at first," said Sandy, a ninth-grader at Lakeshore Junior High. "I was relieved afterwards. A couple of years ago I thought it would probably be old stuff by now, but it's different when your father is doing it."

Truthfully, there had been some tense moments at the Duke home Thursday afternoon. Huddled around a squawk box with Mrs. Duke, the daughter of an Atlanta physician, were Alan Bean, fourth man on the moon; astronaut-scientist Joe Allen and Marilyn Lovell, whose husband James was aboard the aborted Apollo 13 flight.

Decision made on 15th orbit

SPACE CENTER, Houston (UPI)—Space agency officials said Thursday they would have ordered Apollo 16 back to Earth immediately if the moonlanding had been called off.

"On the 15th revolution it was either land, or dock and head back," said flight director Gerald D. Griffin.

Gen. James McDivitt, Apollo spacecraft manager, said the decision was made on the 15th orbit because planners had evaluated all the data available.

Rocco Petrone, Apollo program manager, said that if the command module electrical problem had been bad enough to cancel the mission, it would also have meant the space ships could not safely have remained in lunar orbit for scientific experiments.

Space shuttles

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The House has voted to send Americans into space during the last quarter of the 20th Century aboard a new generation of space vehicles; but the project faces stiff opposition in the Senate.

Brushing aside warnings the program could cost many billions more than estimated, the House Thursday authorized a $3.43 billion space budget including $200 million for development of reusable space shuttles.

About the size of a large commercial airliner, the shuttle would be designed to lift into earth orbit on the back of a rocket and then return to earth like an airplane.

Official City and County Newspaper
Pursuant to Section 40-108 Idaho Code, Thursday is hereby designated as the day of the week on which legal notices will be published. Published daily and Sunday, except Saturday, at 132 Third Street West, Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, by Magic Valley Newspapers, Inc. Entered as second class mail matter April 8, 1918, at the post office in Twin Falls, Idaho, 83301, under the act of March 8, 1879.

WASHINGTON — The perils that could befall President Nixon's bid for re-election are reflected in Sen. Ed Muskie's demand for a 90-day freeze on rising food prices, to cover retailers and middlemen but not farmers. Here, Nixon is at his biggest disadvantage. Muskie's simplified solution for the problem of high prices is attractive to the plain citizen because it calls for action. It sure enough would be effective, from the shopper's point of view, and in an election year that viewpoint is the No. 1 priority for Democratic candidates.

But the President has to manage the whole economy — or at least try to do so. Quite aside from the fact another freeze would be an admission his game plan had been a flop, and thus possibly damage Nixon's prestige as the national administrator, it also would cause all sorts of complications. There would be howls from all segments of the food economy, except of course the farmers, and the protests would be joined by Big Labor if lower profits caused layoffs. There could be withholding of goods, resulting in black marketeering.

Unfortunately for a broad view, his administration's own figures show that Ed Muskie has a point. Herbert Stein, chairman of the Council of Economic Advisers, admits that both prices and wages have risen more rapidly since last November than in the six months prior to the August-November freeze.

Specifically, the Consumer Price Index jumped 4.9 per cent between November and February. In the six months prior to the August freeze the CPI rose "only" 4.1 per cent.

Moreover, the figures address themselves to Muskie's case. As Stein told Congress' Joint Economic Committee, these figures cannot be interpreted properly without looking at the impact rising food prices had on the climbing indexes. Food price increases accounted for 2.7 per cent of the 4.9 per cent overall boost; thus if the food prices were eliminated the CPI climb would be only 2.9 per cent — compared to 3.7 per cent for the six months prior to the freeze, with food eliminated.

Thus, without food, the CPI improvement from November through February was 0.8 per cent.

At this writing, Nixon apparently is prepared to sweat out the food price situation on the premise, as stated by Stein, that it is a "reversible type of process." That is to say, the price of food is subject to seasonal and supply factors. Most fresh vegetables are cheaper in the north in July than they are in January, for obvious reasons. Some food prices, especially beef, already have started to decline.

But sweating it out is not spectacular politics. Nixon would win more votes in November if voters remembered him as the President who took the spectacular action of freezing food prices in April or May, instead of forcing the food shopper to wait until September for better bargains in the supermarket. Ed Muskie will be hammering away at his price freeze proposal as long as Nixon sticks to his sweating-it-out plan, and he'll have the shoppers on his side.

Besides, Stein now has also admitted he still can't predict whether present controls will pull the rate of inflation down to the administration's goal of 2 to 3 per cent by year's end. Given such an admission, the impatient housewife can be forgiven if she concludes Nixon's game plan is not working.

GEORGE C. THOSTESON, M.D.

Comparisons

It is not only the United States which has been witnessing an exodus from the farms to the cities for decades. It has been happening elsewhere, but with some startling differences.

In France, where the agricultural population has been reduced by half in the last 20 years, tight controls over imports and other protective devices have kept the average French farm small in size. By 1975 it is estimated more than 60 percent of the farms in that country will be smaller than 48 acres.

Only two percent will be larger than 240 acres. By way of contrast, the average American farm now is close to 400 acres and getting larger. And despite France's high tariffs on farm imports, the United States managed to sell $157.5 million more in farm products to France in 1971 than it purchased.

Efficiency of scale carries weight even in a protected market place.

Candlemaking

One of the oldest of the skilled arts, candle-making, is enjoying a return to popularity. The Times-News has had at least two feature stories involving area people in this field.

A product which a few years ago seemed doomed to oblivion, candles today are adding a touch of decor to more homes than for years.

Nor are candles simply being used as decorative pieces. Areas of the U.S. which have been hit by storms in recent years have found candles useful during periods when power lines are down.

So greatly in demand have these light producers been during severe storms that shipments of them have been hijacked.

Churches continue to be the largest buyers of candles, accounting for approximately half of total sales. Home consumption is the next largest market, using at least 35 percent of the total output.

To the student of industrial evolution, accustomed to seeing old industries expire and new ones flourish overnight, it is gratifying to note not only the continuation but the expansion of a presumably outdated trade.

Perhaps the flourishing candle business is a further indication of the American warm heart, for what is more romantic than dinner by candle light?

Morals—Medicine

Should suicide laws be repealed? Mercy killing be removed from statutes prohibiting homicide? Are we prepared to take affirmative steps toward reducing the number of genetically defective individuals and hopefully eliminate some genetically transmitted conditions?

These are a few of the questions posed in a recent editorial in the Journal of the American Medical Assn. The Judicial Council of that organization has decided to provide leadership in seeking solutions to such urgent and troubling ethical, social and legal dilemmas which have, ironically, resulted from the extraordinary advances in medicine and biology in recent years.

The AMA has named a group of eminent consultants to their advisory committee. To be focused on are six major topics of concern:

abortion, technology of reproduction, behavior control, genetic engineering, human experimentation and euthanasia.

"These are not questions of medical ethics to be answered solely or exclusively by physicians. They are ethical issues of society. Physicians advise, offering the benefit of their expertise, their knowledge, competence and experience."

But even with the best of talent and efforts it is not likely as the journal's editorial admits, that clear-cut answers will be found to these ethical issues.

If, however, the AMA and its committees can organize and effectively transmit information to the public, they will have performed a considerable service in clarifying the issues in these areas that daily gain in significance.

Approaching Splurge

The time is approaching when nearly half of today's young, unmarried "career girls" will embark on glorious vacations for two weeks. Many have skipped on nearly everything they purchased during the preceding 50 weeks of the year to accumulate the necessary money.

Twin Falls and other Magic Valley communities have a share of these gals. In fact, statistics show that 48 percent of today's career girls follow this pattern, according to a survey of thrift habits by a banking firm.

The girls carry lunches (actually, we don't see any of these gals at the Times-News, come to think of it), forego extravagant spending and spend evenings reading, sewing or watching TV. They wangle a ride to and from work whenever they can. And their dimes and dollars accumulate until they rank next to the Christmas clubs in seasonal savings.

But there comes a time in summer or winter — the girls shun spring and fall vacations — when the scene changes. They leave their workday routine for a world of glamour in some glittering vacation spot. Many, we hasten to point out, hope to find wealthy young husbands.

Most of the girls, the survey shows, stay at one of the better hotels. These girls, who have hoarded pennies for 50 weeks, spend from $500 to $1,000 or more during their two week's vacation. Is it worth it? It must be, because many do it several years in a row.

The young working girl who sacrifices for 50 weeks and splurges for two does not build a habit of careless spending. Instead, the survey shows, her savings plan is easily transformed into an instinct for thrift and self-denial aimed at more serious goals later in life.

Who Is Lying?

WASHINGTON — A 10-year-old boy named Virgil has just written me a letter.

He says, "Dear Sir, I notice in the newspapers that several Justice Department attorneys have testified in the ITT case. Sometimes one Justice attorney says one thing and then another Justice attorney says another. Suppose they're lying? Who prosecutes the prosecutors?"

Dear Virgil, Yours is a very impertinent question which really doesn't deserve an answer. To assume that someone in the Justice Department would tell an untruth makes you no better than a Berrigan brother.

A Justice Department attorney takes an oath that he will never tell a lie — on a Bible. This Bible belongs to the attorney general, who has taken an oath on a Bible that belongs to the chief justice of the Supreme Court, who has taken an oath on a Bible that belongs to the President of the United States. You can readily see the trouble a Justice Department attorney would be in if he perjured himself on that many Bibles.

What you are confusing is perjury and loss of memory. Several of the Justice Department attorneys have suffered from an inability to remember facts pertinent to the ITT investigation. This is understandable when you realize that most Justice Department attorneys are trained to ask questions, but are very rarely called upon to answer them.

If you spent all your life asking, "Where were you on the night of Feb. 12, 1961?" you would be in a heck of a jam if someone suddenly asked you that question.

It is for this reason that under our system Justice Department attorneys in congressional hearings are permitted to "correct" their testimony and "refresh" their memories.

The fact that a Justice Department attorney says one thing in the morning does not preclude him from saying the opposite in the afternoon. And just because one Justice Department attorney says one thing and another Justice Department attorney says another thing does not mean either one of them is lying. It just means they're getting at the truth from opposite directions.

Let me give you an example. Justice Department attorney Wishbone tells a Senate committee that he's never talked to anyone in the Zigzag Monopoly Company. He goes home that night and his wife reminds him that his brother-in-law is president of the Zigzag Monopoly Company. So he goes back to the committee and says he's just remembered that his brother-in-law is president of the company, but he hasn't seen him in 10 years.

Then he takes a recess break and his secretary tells him he's had 20 meetings with his brother-in-law in the past three months.

So he goes back to the committee and says he would like to correct the record; he did see his brother-in-law, but they never really talked business. That night his brother-in-law calls him and says he's in trouble with the IRS because he's put Wishbone down for 20 business lunches.

So Wishbone goes back to the committee the next day and says he talked business with his brother-in-law, but he did nothing to affect Zigzag Monopoly Company's case.

That, Virgil, is not called perjury — it's called amnesia.

I can assure you that your question about who prosecutes the prosecutors has no validity, in Washington. There is no reason to prosecute anyone the ITT case because everyone is telling the truth; and if you keep writing troublingmaking letters like this, I won't be surprised if, when you grow a little older, someone down here doesn't start tapping your phone.

PAUL HARVEY

Not So Big

When President George Meany of the AFL-CIO asserts himself as representing "labor," maybe he does and maybe he doesn't. Only 17 per cent of America's 80 million workers are members of his unions.

Government must be responsible and responsive to the other 83 per cent and to all the 120 million rest of us — young, unemployed, retired, young, unemployed, retired.

Boy, I'll bet Walter Reuther would never have walked off the government's Pay Board.

I remember how vigorously he fought the election of Eisenhower but, once Eisenhower was President, Reuther promptly sought and got himself a corner of the White House desk from where he could continue subtly to assert his views.

The labor movement in the United States was spawned spontaneously, but it matured and grew strong under the protective wing of federal government.

When the public interest demanded intervention against the excessive and abused power of big business, big government intervened.

Now, some say, the balance has been tipped the other way and the authority of government — in the public interest — must be used to restrain the punitive excesses of big labor.

The President's Pay Board and Price Commission were created because our dollar was on fire.

It had become too tempting for industry to settle wage disputes — at any price — then pass that price on to consumers.

The separate Pay Board, including representatives of labor, industry and the public, agreed to a 5.5 per cent guideline for all wage increases.

But then longshoremen sought and got a package increase of more than 30 per cent. When the Pay Board shaved that increase, George Meany and friends walked off the board.

If they thought their walk-out would wreck the Administration's price-control machinery and un-elect Nixon, their selfishness was too overt.

Enlightened concern for their unions' members would have dictated that they remain on the board and bend its decisions to labor's benefit and help wage-price controls succeed.

If the board is successful in cutting inflation in half this year, the Nixon Administration will get credit — and George Meany just could not countenance that.

Consumer prices soared last month at an intolerable annual rate of 6 per cent.

The Meanies cite that figure as evidence that price control is a failure.

The fact is that almost all of the retail price increase was in groceries which were not under price controls.

Meany and friends, on the board, could help restrain grocery prices, to everybody's benefit, and claim at least part of the credit.

The Meanies, on the outside, can only holler and each year to a less responsive audience. All surveys show the public, generally, wants controls to work.

Quits Kissing

Dear Dr. Thosteson: This may seem an unusual inquiry but it is in earnest. My husband (29) is bothered by colds or throat infections several times each winter.

This year he has been making a concentrated effort to avoid them and one of his precautions is not to kiss me. He has decided that kissing is too germmy.

The irony is that I rarely have colds. He thinks it is possible for me to pass infection on to him even if I don't have any symptoms myself. Incidentally, he does not avoid other contact with me, so I don't think he has ulterior motives.

Unfortunately, our family doctor is an old nut who brags of not having slept in the same bed with his wife for the last 40 years because once upon a time they had a cold which they passed back and forth, by breathing on each other while sleeping (he says).

He considers double beds unhealthy, so you can see where my husband is getting some of his notions. Perhaps I should be glad he doesn't share the doctor's extremist view, but I happen to enjoy kissing very much and hate to give it up for a whole season. — O.F.

Germs aren't the only things that spread from person to person. So are goofy ideas.

As to the doctor — he ought to know by this time that there are scores of cold viruses. Having one confers at least a temporary immunity to that particular kind, but not to others.

So he and his wife, instead of passing a cold back and forth, evidently were breathing various kinds of colds at each other.

In short, he's being very unscientific about it. As to your husband, there are other factors more likely than kissing you to cause his colds: factors such as chronic tonsillitis, excessive smoking, improper eating, insufficient rest and exposure to others.

Dear Dr. Thosteson: What causes hissing or ringing in the ears and is there any relief for it? — D. R.

Commonest causes are defects in the ears, high blood pressure, and certain medications. Sometimes cure is possible; usually some relief, at least psychological. You'd better send 15 cents and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope for a copy of my booklet, "Ear Noises, Their Causes and Cures." Send request to me in care of this newspaper.

Dr. Thosteson welcomes all reader mail, but regrets that, due to the tremendous volume received daily, he is unable to answer individual letters. Readers' questions are incorporated in his column whenever possible.

TFHS play gets praise

By CRAIG & MARGIE MORRIS

TWIN FALLS — "A witch-boy from the mountain came, A pinin' to be human, Fer he had seen the fairest gal . . . A gal named Barbara Allen . . ."

"The Ballad of Barbara Allen" was vividly brought to life Thursday evening with the Twin Falls High School dramatic presentation of "Dark of the Moon."

This poignant tragedy is an effort rich in talent, skilled direction, and good entertainment. The folk-drama is as fast paced in movement as it is taut in structure.

The play starred Jackie Hovey as Barbara Allen and Denny Wentworth as John. Miss Hovey was especially effective as the ill-fated girl who loves often but unwisely until she meets John, the witch-turned-human. She makes the transition from saucy strumpet to loving, yet tragic, wife with great skill.

Wentworth, who moves with fluid grace, was a thoroughly competent John — well intended but trapped in his actions by what he is. Also deserving of credit are Peter Bolton and Vicki Herzinger as the conjurers; Jim Pietz as Uncle Smellicue; Alan Baun as Marvin Huggens; and Pat Elledge and Roy Graybill as Barbara's parents — she, desperate to marry off her daughter; he, laconic.

Preacher Haggler (Kirk Larsen) displayed faith equaled only by his persistence. The old time religion flavor of hymns and chanting is in good contrast with the tragic overtones of the rest of the play.

Bradford T. Hickerson once again displayed his creative directorial abilities and can be most proud of his latest effort. The show is rich in imagery due, in part, to the sets, make up and costuming.

Throughout the play, the silhouettes of the moon, the mountains, and the lonely windswept tree cast a constant shadow of foreboding over the principles and their lives.

The entire company of obviously talented young people presented a most entertaining production.

TF family named in collection suit

TWIN FALLS — The failure of the chicken industry in the Magic Valley continues to cause repercussions in the lives of John Bertie and his family.

Bertie and his wife, his mother-in-law, Mrs. Cecilia Bertie, and Bertie's Apple Valley Farms, Inc., were all named in a collection suit Thursday by the Small Business Administration.

The suit asks for collection of $156,366 allegedly owed on a loan Bertie signed when Bertie's chicken processing firm was reorganized under the name of Northwest Poultry.

Though Bertie relinquished complete ownership of the firm when it reorganized, he personally signed the SBA-backed loan and became liable when the operation failed.

The suit also asks for nullification of transfer of three land parcels in Gooding County. The action alleges the transfer was made "fraudulently and accomplished for the purpose of hindering collection on the note," Bertie signed.

The federal government, of which the SBA is an agency, asks that a lien be placed on the properties as a method of collection on the loan.

Bertie said this morning, "I have not yet been notified of the suit. I heard it on the radio and I can't comment on it until I am advised fully."

The litigation will not affect current negotiations designed to reinstate the poultry industry in Twin Falls. A group headed by Vaughn Egan, Burley, has been attempting to purchase property and equipment owned by the defunct Northwest Poultry Inc.

Robert Rayborn of Rayborn, Rayborn and Burchas, attorneys for Egan's group, said the properties involved in the suit are not under negotiation by the group.

Demo caucus set

TWIN FALLS — Democrats of legislative district 25 will caucus at 8 p.m. Monday at the Twin Falls County

Judicial Building.

The balance of delegates to the state convention at Sun Valley June 16 and 17 will be selected.

Delegates selected last Monday will be assigned to committees for the state convention. The caucus is for all precinct committeemen and delegates selected last Monday.

Purse stolen

TWIN FALLS — A purse with items of an estimated value of $50 was stolen Wednesday from the vehicle of Julia Kay Helsley, Jerome.

The vehicle was parked behind the J. C. Penney store in Twin Falls.

According to Twin Falls police, Mrs. Helsley said she had left the purse in her car on the front seat. When she returned a short time later, it was missing.

Valuable items in the purse included $50 cash, ID cards and traveler's checks.

Convicted Gem man gives innocent plea

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — A Sacramento man convicted of a triple murder in Idaho pleaded innocent Thursday to the shooting death of a Sylmar, Calif., teenager whose skeletal remains were found in a ditch near his home.

A May 22 trial was set for Michael "Evil" Rennpage, 28, who is accused of killing Joseph W. Warmuth, 19, last August 7 after the youth picked up Rennpage and a girlfriend while hitchhiking.

Warmuth's remains were found by oil company workers five months later in a Val Verde-area culvert.

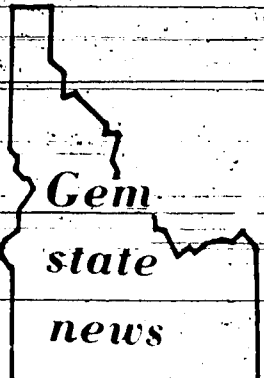

Rennpage's tattooed girlfriend, Joyce Turner, 22, who has the words "Property of Evil" emblazoned on her chest, had been granted immunity from prosecution in exchange for her testimony at the murder trial.

She and Rennpage were arrested in Idaho last fall after a shooting spree in Driggs, Idaho, left three young farm workers dead and two others, including a sheriff's deputy, wounded.

While in custody the suspect's girlfriend, also known as Joyce Frye, confided to Idaho authorities that Rennpage had killed Warmuth and hidden the body somewhere in the Newhall-Sylmar canyons.

Miss Turner was returned to this area in police custody a number of times in an attempt to locate Warmuth's body, but all attempts failed. The oil company's exploratory crew in January found only bones and a few shreds of clothing in the culvert although positive identification was made.

Rennpage, who pleaded guilty to second degree murder to the farm workers' killings was sentenced to prison this year. He was returned to Los Angeles last month to await arraignment.

Commission approved

BOISE (UPI) — The state parks and recreation board has given final approval to an advisory commission to evaluate projects which are funded under the federal land and water conservation fund program.

The commission, which got its final go-ahead Thursday, will be composed of volunteer representatives from various state and local agencies. Its main function will be to give technical assistance to applicants for conservation fund money.

The commission is also designed to provide valuable input during revisions of the statewide comprehensive outdoor recreation plan.

Under the plan the commission will meet whenever a sufficient number of applications are received.

The plan calls for the following agencies to appoint a representative to the commission:

- Environmental Improvement Agency
- State Planning and Community Affairs Agency
- Idaho Project Officer
- Bureau of Outdoor Recreation
- Boise City Parks and Recreation Department
- Idaho Fish and Game Commission

District health programs urged

McCALL (UPI) — Dr. John Edwards, Council, urged members of district boards of health Thursday to develop district health programs designed to meet local needs.

Edwards was keynote speaker for the three-day comprehensive health planning seminar. Some 60 health district board members attended the session.

"Don't have look-alike services but do your own thing for your local area," Edwards said, adding the district health departments had "golden opportunities" to develop programs.

Another speaker, Dr. Charles Cameron Jr., University of Oklahoma Medical Center, described the United States medical system as a "non-system" and described it as "push car vending in the age of supermarkets."

Cameron said most health insurance coverage concentrates on hospital expense protection and surgical services and said only about one-third of total family health care is covered by insurance.

Support given

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho's congressmen say they have joined 60 of their colleagues in support of a house resolution condemning the North Vietnamese for their "massive invasion of South Vietnam."

Rep. Orval Hansen, R-Idaho, said the resolution was introduced as a result of deep concern that recent statements blaming the United States for "escalation" of the war had gone without response.

"North Vietnam—with its invasion by regular forces of the Republic of Vietnam, is attempting to conquer the south," Hansen said. "This is imperialism, and ought to be labelled as such."

Rep. James McClure, R-Idaho, said the sense-of-congress resolution supported the president's handling of the Vietnam war, adding, "It is in belief that Mr. Nixon is sincerely desirous of extricating this nation from the Vietnam conflict through orderly withdrawal."

55 new VD cases

BOISE (UPI) — Fifty-four cases of gonorrhea and one case of syphilis were reported last week in Idaho, according to the Department of Health.

The syphilis, only the second case reported in the state this far this year, occurred in Ada County.

Arthur Boyle, director of the venereal disease control program, said the number of gonorrhea cases reported now total 542 for the year, compared to the total last year at this time of 740.

Ketchum-Sun Valley Library praised

KETCHUM — Praise for the Ketchum-Sun Valley Community Library accompanied an official proclamation of National Library Week in Ketchum by Mayor Kenneth Richey.

Richey said the library's "tradition of service continually enriches, never diminishes, the community."

"This self-supporting library should be a source of pride to those who helped create it and continue to support it, and to all who avail themselves of its facilities and many services," Richey said.

The mayor also said that the library's history is a "testimonial" to the Library Week slogan, "Books Bring People Together."

The Ketchum-based facility provides free services to residents of Ketchum, Sun Valley, Triumph, Guntlet and North Fork.

In other library news, "Wildflowers of the World" by Morley has been presented to the library by Mrs. Gatzert Spiegel in memory of Delpha Wordeman Barr.

Mrs. Daniel Hart, librarian, said current college and university catalogs from Idaho and neighboring states are now available at the facility. The librarian said the career minded students would be interested in "Your Career If You're Not Going to College" by Splaver.

Other new books include the following. Adult non-fiction: "Bring Me a Unicorn," Lindbergh; "Australian Adventure," Helmericks; and "Introduction to Sailing," Mitchell.

Adult fiction: "All My Friends Are Going to be Strangers," McMurtry; "The Peaceable Kingdom," De Hartog; "Every Little Crook and Nanny," Hunter; "Voyage to the First of December," Carls; and "Squaw Point," Shipper.

Juvenile picture books: "The Day They Parachuted Cats on Borneo," Pomerantz; "Dangerous Spring," Benary-Isbert; "A Horse Called Dragon," Hall.

"Dodos and Dinosaurs Are Extinct," May; "Riddle Me, Riddle Me, Ree," Leach; "Stowaway to the Mushroom Planet," Cameron, and "The Town that Launders Its Water," Stevens.

Mrs. Hart said the library hours will remain the same through the spring season. The facility is open Tuesday, Thursday and Friday from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. and 3 to 8 p.m., and Wednesday and Saturday from 1 to 6 p.m. It is closed Sunday and Monday.

St. Anthony library wins award

ST. ANTHONY — The St. Anthony Public Library has been named winner of the 1972 National Library Week contest.

Mrs. Candace Vroman, State Executive Director for NLW, said the letter which won the award was written by Mrs. Mari Dee Brown of St. Anthony. The St. Anthony library will be awarded a $25 cash prize and Mrs. Brown will receive $5.00.

In response to the NBC-TV "Today" Show, which in January cited Idaho as an example of a state where library financing was badly substandard, the Library Week contest was set up to take a hard look at the problems Idaho libraries actually have and at what could be done to remedy them.

It was in this context that the "What's Wrong With Your Library?" contest was born.

It asked library users to comment on what they thought a library should be like.

Snake River Lions set installation

This column makes it a policy never to mention the name of a player who makes an unfortunate bid or play, so West will only be identified as one of the best players in New England.

Against South's three no-trump West opened the king of spades. East played the queen and West led the eight of spades to his partner. East returned the jack of hearts.

South resisted the temptation to cover with the queen and just won with dummy's ace. Then he knocked out West's ace of spades. West thought awhile, cashed the king of hearts and South claimed the rest of the tricks.

West promptly pointed out that it he had just opened a diamond and left spades alone. South would have been held to eight tricks. West apologized to partner.

We feel that West was a little hard on himself. Just suppose that he had opened a diamond. South would win and run off five club tricks. West would have to make four discards. Suppose that two of these were hearts. South could play ace and one heart and get his ninth trick. Suppose he threw two diamonds, a heart and a spade. South could go after spades and lose just two spades and two diamonds.

Keep looking. You will find that West could beat the hand by chucking one heart and all three spades. But we doubt that anyone in the world would find that defense.

Dear Abby

DEAR ABBY: You recently published a letter from a wife who had a message for her husband's mistress. Please be fair and give me equal time, Abby. I have a message for that wife.

Dear Wife: You say, "Never expect to see him on Sundays or holidays."

Are you kidding? He goes to his office for a few hours on Sunday so I can meet him there. Or else we talk for hours on the phone.

You say, "Never call him at home." We have that worked out, too. I ring once and hang up. Then he goes immediately to his place of business and I get in touch with him there.

You say, "Don't ever expect him to take you out in public."

Who needs the public? We are private people.

You say, "You can't depend on him in time of personal crisis."

You are so right, but neither can you, as he is hardly ever home.

You say, "Don't believe him when he says his wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin) and she hasn't slept with him for 10 years."

He never said that YOU did!

You say, "Don't ever expect his wife to divorce him, even if she catches him. She knows that you are not his first and won't be his last. Also, she is not about to give up her status, financial security and retirement income because of you. However, her discovery will probably terminate his affair with you, so be prepared to get some new clothes, circulate and find another married man whose wife is a shrew, cold, homely, too fat (or too thin) and hasn't slept with him for 10 years."

I really pity you. What good is all that status when all your friends know that your husband is in love with another woman?

YOUR HUSBAND'S MISTRESS

DEAR ABBY: Two of my girl friends and I were talking about our problems when my mother walked in and heard us. She said, "Why don't you write to Dear Abby about it?" So here goes:

We are sophomores in high school and our problem is students who smoke in the lavatories.

I suffer from bronchial asthma and my two friends have allergies, and those school lavatories are so filled with smoke by the end of the day, we can't even go in there. Abby, we are not exaggerating!

Sure, we have a "No Smoking" rule in our school, but the principal and most of the teachers smoke themselves, so they don't push it. (But they have their own smoking room.)

Don't you think we have the right to ask for smoke-free lavatories? Please, tell them.

People with no respiratory problems take breathing for granted. BONNIE, MARY & LINDA: BINGHAMTON, N.Y.

DEAR BONNIE, LINDA AND MARY: All right, I've told them. I ever think of getting up a petition?

DEAR ABBY: I read that letter in your column from "Irrked Salesperson" who said, "Nothing irks me more than to approach a prospective customer with, 'May I please help you?' and have her say, 'No thanks. I'm just looking.' And then she promptly walks away."

Well, I would like to tell you what irks ME! To go into a store, wanting to buy something and not having much time to waste, and not being able to find anyone to wait on me!

GOP charges Demo attack

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Republicans accused House Democrats today of "condemning" the U.S. government and attacking President Nixon while he was trying to defend American troops from North Vietnamese invaders.

GOP spokesmen leveled the charges in response to a vote Thursday by the House Democratic caucus denouncing administration Indochina policy and scheduling a House vote within a few weeks on end-the-war legislation.

The caucus action raised the possibility the House for the first time would join the Senate in passing legislation directing President Nixon to withdraw from Vietnam by a given date, subject only to release of American prisoners.

The tone of administration reaction reflected its concern that the caucus action would lead Democratic leaders, Speaker Carl Albert and Democratic floor leader Hale Boggs, to vote for end-the-war legislation for the first time.

Taking up the administration cause, House Republican leader Gerald R. Ford, Mich., said in a statement today that he was "astonished" by the Democratic caucus vote. He said it showed members of Congress were responding "to a full scale enemy invasion, an invasion which threatens the lives of American forces, by condemning the United States."

And GOP Whip Leslie Arends, Ill., said the Democrats were hitting Nixon from the rear "while he works to defend American forces overseas."

Ronald L. Ziegler, Nixon's press secretary, accused the Democrats of "trying to have it both ways" by assailing both the invasion and the U.S. retaliation. He referred to a phrase in the caucus resolution which condemned the North Vietnamese invasion.

ITT probe awaits White House reply

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Senate Judiciary Committee, its six-week investigation of ITT and attorney general designate Richard G. Kleindienst at an end, waited today for the White House to answer questions which presidential aide Peter Flanigan declined to answer.

Kleindienst's nomination, meanwhile, remained stalled, at least until next week when the committee will make a report to the Senate which is due on Thursday. An up-or-down vote on the nomination itself by the full Senate would then come when the Democratic leadership wants it—perhaps weeks from now.

It was Flanigan who recruited Wall Street analyst Richard J. Ramsden to write a report on what would happen to International Telephone & Telegraph if the firm was forced to give up Hartford Fire Insurance Co. to settle an antitrust suit.

The Justice Department settled the suit out of court, allowing ITT to retain Hartford, after receiving Ramsden's report.

Flanigan appeared before the committee Thursday as its last scheduled witness after the White House agreed to let him do so, provided the questions directed at him be limited to his contacts with Richard McLaren, former head of the Justice Department's antitrust division; Harold S. Geneen, ITT president, and a few other matters.

Aides arrive for talks

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Reps. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., and Patsy Mink, D-Hawaii, both opponents of the administration's Vietnam policy, were to arrive in Paris today for two days of talks with North Vietnam and Viet Cong negotiators.

They said the meetings today and Saturday would be aimed at getting the peace talks started again.

Ask protests

Campus strikes protest bombing

By United Press International

The arrest and injury total rose sharply today in antiwar demonstrations on college campuses throughout the country. Many universities scheduled campus strikes today in protest of the increased bombing in Vietnam.

Maryland Gov. Marvin Mandel sent in helmeted National Guardsmen Thursday to quell disorders at the University of Maryland.

Tear gas and Mace were used to break up demonstrations at the University of Texas, University of Wisconsin, Wright Patterson Air Force Base in Ohio and the University of Maryland.

Sixty-five universities were scheduled to participate in a strike today, according to the National Student Association and the Student Mobilization Committee.

Thursday was the fourth consecutive day of protests against stepped up United States involvement in the war in Vietnam and the most violent.

About 140 persons were arrested Thursday night at the University of Maryland when they violated a 9 p.m. to 7 a.m. state of emergency curfew imposed by Mendel. Earlier tear gas was lobbed into a crowd of 2,000 angry protesters who tried to block U.S. 1 at the Maryland campus in College Park, 10 miles north of the nation's capital. Two policemen were injured in the melee.

Demonstrators pelted police with cans, bottles, rocks and eggs in the University of Wisconsin protest. At least nine persons were arrested in the Wisconsin protest when 5,000 protesters battled police in the campus and Capitol Square area.

One police officer was hospitalized. Several other policemen sustained minor injuries and an undetermined number of demonstrators sought and for minor injuries and tear gas irritation, authorities said.

Eight protesters were arrested at the University of Texas. Witnesses said the eight were maced and clubbed when Austin police allegedly charged into the crowd of 200.

Harvard University antiwar demonstrators voiced support today for about 50 blacks who seized the administration building to challenge the school's investment in Africa.

Demo candidates condemn bombing

By United Press International

Sens. George S. McGovern and Edmund S. Muskie continued their condemnation of the new, heavy U.S. bombing in Vietnam and demanded an end to the American role in Indochina while campaigning Thursday for the Democratic presidential nomination.

McGovern, throwing away his prepared text at Catholic University in Washington, said the re-election of President Nixon would be an open Party hunting license for him to wage an all out war on the people of Indochina."

Muskie told supporters in Philadelphia that within two months, if I am elected, I will bring our boys home."

In other political developments Thursday, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey said Tuesday's Pennsylvania primary was his "breakpoint," and said at a Washington Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace won the endorsement of Michigan's Conservative Party.

Rep. Shirley Chisholm, the only black woman candidate, called the increased U.S. bombing in Vietnam "harel-brained gibberish."

"The integrity of any American commitment to its allies is in no more danger of being corrupted by getting out of Vietnam at this late date than I am of being tanned by a warm sun," she said at a Washington luncheon.

Nixon goes to retreat

THURMONT, Md. (UPI)—President Nixon settled in at his Camp David retreat today for a long weekend that will see him work on foreign policy and domestic legislation.

White House spokesmen declined to say whether Nixon would draft his statement on Vietnam troop withdrawals, which he is expected to deliver sometime next week. But with him at Camp David was Dr. Henry A. Kissinger, his adviser for national security affairs.

The administration's troop withdrawal program is scheduled to reduce the number of Americans stationed in Vietnam to 69,000 by May 1. The White House has refused to rule out the possibility that Nixon might call a temporary halt to withdrawals in view of the North Vietnamese offensive, but administration officials have said the overall policy of removing U.S. ground troops is unchanged.

How will you control wireworms and sugarbeet maggots?

You'll need effective control. But you want control without causing crop residue problems.

That's why Diazinon® is such a smart choice for wireworm and sugarbeet maggot control in potatoes and beets. Diazinon gets even the resistant strains of soil insects. Yet doesn't leave a crop residue problem.

Just follow the label and there's no worry about applying Diazinon, either. And no yield reductions to fret over. Besides effective control of soil insects, Diazinon gives you some peace of mind.

So be confident of protecting sugarbeets and potatoes against the ravages of sugarbeet maggots and wireworms. Use the proven soil insecticide. Use Diazinon.

Allotment larger for Gooding unit

FAIRFIELD — The Gooding Cattle Association has accepted a 16 per cent increase in cattle numbers on the Gooding cattle allotment on the Sawtooth National Forest north of Fairfield.

This increase in cattle grazing permits was made possible by practicing rest-rotation grazing, controlling sagebrush competition, developing adequate water troughs and close cooperation between Gooding Cattle Association members and the Sawtooth National Forest during the past nine years, District Forest Ranger Larry

M. Weeks, Fairfield, said Thursday.

Grass was not always as abundant in the Gooding cattle country, Secretary-Treasurer Manning Patterson said. "A decade ago we thought the forest service was going to terminate our grazing privileges because of concern over heavily grazed valley bottoms and meadows," he said.

However, since the other permittees and myself switched to rest-rotation pasture management on the forest in 1963, and developed numerous water troughs we now leave twice as much grass on the allotment each fall as we take off.

"For the past several years we have not put cattle on two pastures or half of the allotment area. Our cattle now graze in high isolated areas where cattle have seldom grazed before."

"Cattle seldom graze the areas like the Little Smoky Creek meadows until after the Labor Day weekend, thus leaving the valley meadows lush and enjoyable for the picnickers, campers, fishermen, and sightseers as well as late fall livestock use," Patterson said.

Permittees Charles Luther, John Varin and Roy Mink said "The Gooding Cattle Association was organized back in the early 1900s, and most of the permittees' grazing permits have been in their immediate families since its organization."

C. A. Luther, father of Charles Luther, was secretary-treasurer of the association from its origin in 1907 until about 1930.

The allotment boundary has not changed much since the early days, but numbers of sheep trailing and grazing the allotment and numbers of cattle grazing the allotment had been reduced by 300 per cent.

"Many other factors have entered into the success of our present operation. In 1957 we voluntarily changed our entry date on the allotment from June 11 to about July 4."

Gem meat animal record surpassed

BOISE (UPI) — Meat animal production on Idaho farms and ranches for 1971 surpassed the 1970 record by five per cent, the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service said Thursday.

Production totaled 757.5 million pounds compared with 720.4 million during 1970, the report said.

Cattle and calves accounted for 85 per cent of the production and were up five percent. Hogs represent seven per cent and sheep eight per cent.

Higher prices for cattle and calves more than offset lower prices for sheep and hogs, raising gross income from meat animals to a record $236.4 million. This topped 1970 by six per cent.

Wheat men get bonus

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Idaho wheat growers will get an unexpected $500,000 in additional revenue this year because of a boost in county loan and purchase rates to southern Idaho wheat farmers.

Rep. James Mc Clure said Wednesday the U.S. Department of Agriculture's increase over 1971 rates primarily affects hard-wheat production and excludes areas from Idaho county north.

More wool

BOISE (UPI) — Meat animal production in Idaho during 1971 totaled 6,911,000 pounds, according to the Idaho Crop and Livestock Reporting Service.

The report said the total compared with a 1970 clip of 6,845,000 pounds and included 3,000 more head shorn.

Rural development act passage asked

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Sen. Frank Church, D-Idaho, has called for passage of the proposed 1972 Rural Development Act, claiming it is essential of rural America is to be saved from strangulation by declining population and dwindling credit.

"The rural frontier is dying," Church said. "Rural America contains one-half of the nation's poverty and 60 per cent of the nation's substandard housing."

He said in Idaho farm employment has declined from 66,000 in the 1961-65 period to below 46,000 today.

The legislation would create a new rural development credit system to provide new sources of capital to develop rural areas, expand the lending authority of the Farmers Home Administration, increase federal farm operating loan limitations from $35,000 to $50,000, and authorize expanded services to foster rural revitalization through both state and federal efforts.

He said the act would provide the financial incentive needed to revitalize farm areas.

TF has vets 'job fair'

TWIN FALLS — Magic Valley veterans discovered the availability or lack of employment in the area Thursday at a Veterans' Job Fair.

Sponsored by the American Legion, Twin Falls Chamber of Commerce and the Idaho State Department of Employment, over 150 veterans met with employers from throughout the Magic Valley and department of employment personnel.

According to Emil T. Omild, veterans' employment representative for the department of employment, the job fair is to get employers concentrated in one building to interview unemployed or underemployed veterans with the hope of either providing employment or to advise on how to prepare for various occupations.

Also on hand were representatives from several state and federal agencies, including the Veterans Administration, Veterans Affairs, Idaho Hospital Association and the Idaho Personnel Commission.

Omild said he hopes to make this an annual event if it proves productive to veterans and employers.

He said the idea is to help stimulate job potential as the veterans and employers get together.

The different employers interview the veteran, take down his name and other information listing his job preference or skills.

Omild said the job fair was not actually to locate a veteran in a job position, but to show him the availability of job positions in the Magic Valley.

It is the responsibility of the veteran and employers to follow up any possibility of the veteran being placed. Many filled out job applications for file at the different companies.

Employers represented at the job fair were the College of Southern Idaho, U.S. Army Reserve, A and P, Amalgamated Sugar, Baker's Mobile Homes, Boise Cascade, Brackett's, Kraft Foods, Equitable Life, Ace Hansen Chevrolet, Holmes Construction, Gordon Paving and Keith's Interiors.

Other employers were Kellwood, King's, Longview Fibre, Magic Valley International, Ore-Ida, Pacific Finance, Reed Tractors, Sears Roebuck and Co., Shelby's J. R. Simplot Co., Telex Hearing Aid Service, United Automotive, Inc., C. W. and J. Ward, Inc. and Wasatch Plumbing Supply.

Firing of health aide criticized

TWIN FALLS — Orriette Sinclair, Idaho Republican National committeewoman, Thursday opposed the firing of the chairman of the Idaho State Board of Health.

The action by Gov. Cecil Andrus, she said, "is one more example of the governor's intransigence in refusing to allow differing opinions."

Mrs. Sinclair said Dr. Merrill Sharp, Pocatello physician, is only the last in a long list of competent persons fired by the governor.

"While it is the governor's right to appoint and replace board members," Mrs. Sinclair said, "those members should also have the right to be heard when they feel the governor is wrong."

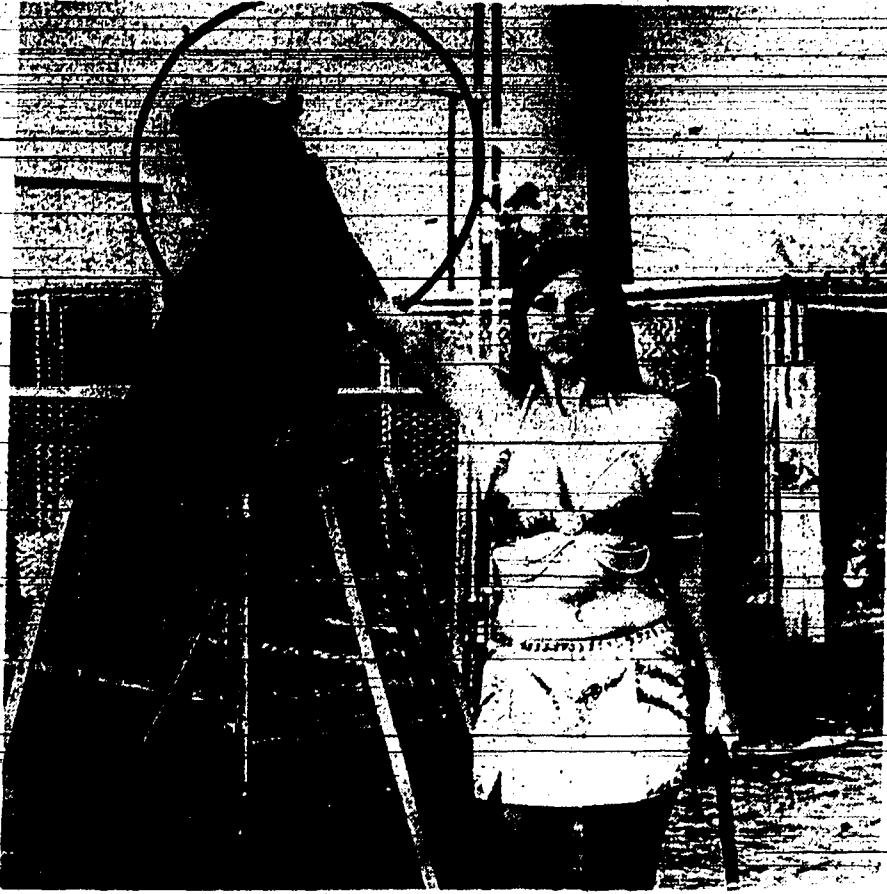

"Apparently this can't no longer be done without the fear of being fired," she added, "which creates an unwholesome atmosphere and greatly dilutes the effectiveness of boards and commissions."

Sharp was appointed to the health board by former Gov. Don Samuelson in 1968 for a term expiring in 1973. He was elected chairman last month.

Standard & Poor's 500 stock index was ahead 0.08 at 109.12.

Volume amounted to more than 12,060,000 shares compared to 10,690,000 shares traded during the comparable period Thursday. Of the 1,673 issues traded, advances edged declines, 697 to 621.

The Labor Department's announcement of no change in the consumer price index for March, seasonally adjusted, apparently helped the market in its early stages but some profit-taking appeared as the afternoon session got under way.

First quarter corporate earnings reports, many higher than anticipated, spurred some investors.

Steels, motors and chemicals were narrowly mixed. Dow Chemical was ahead 1/4 following its predictions of an increase in overseas sales and profits over the next few years.

Superior Oil led the oils, up 5 1/2. Natam was down 1 1/2.

Rails and airlines were narrowly mixed.

Aircraft issues generally were higher.

Speaker named at CSI rite

DR. WILLIAM E. DAVIS
CSI commencement speaker

For two years prior to his appointment as ISU president, Dr. Davis was professor and assistant to the president for student affairs at the University of Wyoming.

He has written one book and authored more than 70 articles which have appeared in regional and national publications.

TWIN FALLS — Final plans are under way for the 1972 commencement exercises at the College of Southern Idaho. Dr. James L. Taylor, CSI president, said Dr. William E. Davis, president of Idaho State University, Pocatello, will make the address at graduation at 2 p.m.-May 14.

Dr. Davis has been president of ISU for seven years. He is a native of Kansas but received most of his education in Colorado. He holds a bachelor of science and a doctor of education degrees from the University of Colorado and a master of arts degree from Northern Colorado University.

He entered the field of professional education in 1954 after serving three years as a lieutenant with the U. S. Marine Corps.

Dr. Davis moved from high school teaching to higher education in 1960, first as alumni director and then as football coach and later as dean of men at the University of Colorado.

Bishops call for peace

ATLANTA (UPI) — United Methodist bishops issued a call for world peace Thursday, but warned that it cannot exist without "justice based on new attitudes, understandings and relations."

The 1,000 delegates to the church's general conference were urged to take a stand against racism, overpopulation, economic exploitation and "continued reliance upon military violence" which the bishops report identified as among the principal enemies of peace.

In a related action, the Committee on Social Concerns voted to recommend economic sanctions and other pressures against companies which supply war materials for Southeast Asia.

Four companies were cited as "examples" — Honeywell General Electric, ITT, and Standard Oil.

"Peace is not simply the absence of war," Bishop James Armstrong of Aberdeen, S. C., said. "It is that emerging dynamic reality where spears and swords give way to implements of peace, where historic antagonists dwell in trust and where righteousness and justice prevail."

If war is to be overcome, Armstrong said, "root causes must be isolated and dealt with."

"There will be no peace with justice unless liberation is gained by those who have been manipulated and victimized by interests that have been willing to profit from the continued deprivation of the weak and powerless."

Deterioration forecast in U.S.-Japan relations

By MARGARET KILGORE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A leading China scholar predicted today that U.S.-Japanese relations would continue to deteriorate as the United States moves to improve relations with China.

A. Doak Barnett, a senior fellow at the Brookings Institution in Washington, discussed China's foreign relations policies with a group of other panelists during the second day of a three-day convention of the American Society of Newspaper Editors (ASNE).

Barnett said: "I think we should continue to show originality and effort in continuing our relations with China. We should try to open up various subjects with them including basic arms control and disarmament issues."

Barnett said he was "cautiously optimistic" on the future of U.S.-China relations. He said, however, he thought "we can expect deteriorating relations with Japan over this. I think we should give high priority to repairing various grievances. We can't allow a U.S.-Japan split to occur."

There have been increasing tensions in recent months between Japan and the United States over trade relations and a feeling by the Japanese that President Nixon hasn't consulted them sufficiently on various Asian diplomatic moves.

The panel was moderated by Robert Keatley of the Wall Street Journal. Also speaking to the editors was Prof. Paul T. K. Lin, director of the Center for East Asian Studies at McGill University in Toronto;

Prof. Robert A. Scalapino of the University of California at Berkeley, and Marshall Green, assistant secretary of State for Far Eastern affairs.

Lin reviewed a history of U.S.-Chinese relations, observing that "trends in China are being set not by Chairman Mao himself but by hundreds of millions of people with a memory of the past."

Scalapino said China's Prime Minister Chou En-lai, has asserted that in our new relationship there can be and there need be no abandonment of principles and no desertion of allies by the United States. The acid test of this doctrine will be our willingness to maintain our military protection against external threats and our economic interaction with the people of Taiwan if events should unfold in such a fashion as to cause this state to evolve toward legal as well as de facto independence."
